No worries, we are bringing them back, this time during their own session focused on current hot button issues throughout solid waste sectors. In these sessions, you will be broken into small discussion groups and rotate through several moderated tables to have an open forum discussion on current issues in the recycling, disposal, collections, and communications sectors. This forum gives all participants the chance to talk about what has and has not worked in their programs and where they are going in the future. The roundtables are focused on creating ideas and providing opportunities to make new contacts to build those ideas into new opportunities back home.
